DETAILED ACTION

Response to Election

Applicant's election of 21 May 2007 is noted. Upon consideration of Applicant's persuasive arguments at pp. 3-5 of the remarks, the previous restriction requirement (mailed 21 April 2008) is withdrawn.

Election/Restrictions

PART I - Cell Adhesion-inducing peptide and/or tissue growth factor-derived peptide

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

One of the proteins recited in claim 4 or 13, or a specific combination thereof.
"Combination" is meant as a requirement for two or more elements to be in the bone graft material. For example, if Applicant elects the combination 16-34 of BMP-2 (SEQ ID NO: 6) and 47-71 of BMP-2 (SEQ ID NO: 7), the claims will be examined to the extent that they require a bone graft material having immobilized on the surface thereof either (1) one peptide having both sequences SEQ ID NO: 6 and SEQ ID NO: 7 or (2) two peptides, one being SEQ ID NO: 6 and the other being SEQ ID NO: 7.

"Combination" is not meant as an invitation for Applicant to elect a subgenus of the genus recited in claims 4 or 13, wherein the subgenus has multiple possible individual peptides or combinations of peptides.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The PCT rules define a special technical feature as a feature which distinguishes the claimed invention over the prior art. Claim 1 is directed to a bone graft material which has a cell adhesion-inducing peptide and/or tissue growth factor-derived peptide immobilized on its surface. However, such is well known in the prior art. For example, Puleo et al. (2002, Biomaterials 23:2079-2087) disclose a titanium bone graft material having BMP-4 immobilized thereon. Since claim 1 is anticipated by the prior art, it does not have a special technical feature as defined by the PCT rules. It follows that claim 1 does not share a special technical feature with the other claimed aspects of the invention.

PART II - Bone graft material

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

One of the bone graft materials listed in claim 7 or 16.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

PART III - Crosslinkers

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

One of the crosslinkers recited in claim 9 or 22.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Conclusion

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
